

About Numerology

Numerology is the study of numbers. It is not a perfect science since it gives about 65-70% information about any person. By having knowledge about the numbers and a good memory, one can save energy and time in life. A person can never be a good numerologist by reading the information/books alone. It is the hands-on experience which he adds in his life by talking and discussing with colleagues, family, friends subordinates, general public etc., that makes him a good numerologist.

Numerology is not an exact science. It is one that is based on some 5,000 years of experience and limited research, but human beings are incredibly complex and numerology is more than an attempt to identify and label some of the more visible aspects.

Therefore, it is simply not possible for a numerologist to be 100% right. For that reason, you will have to be careful with what you say, in order to avoid harming the person who comes to you in good faith and who may well take your words more literally than you realize.

It alerts you to turbulent times and helps you to take advantage of coming opportunities.

Numerology is used to understand your own deeper nature; your talents and your life goals; your hidden characteristics; your opportunities and challenges. It offers insight into the opportunities that will come to you during the years ahead. It describes the cycles you experience during the course of your life and offers guidance in career, romance and prosperity. In short, numerology is a self-help tool, providing meaningful advice for all types of situations. The art of numerology is based on the personality of numbers, their inner nature & vibration, how they can be used to better understand yourself and the world around you.

Numerology can both predict and not predict your future. Certain cycles definitely point to the possibility of painful experience at certain times in your life, such as accidents, money problems, divorce and the like. In the same way, numerology foretells many positive events also. Numerology can indicate, for example, that a certain period of your life will be highly rewarding, a kind of payment for years of effort. Numerology can be very accurate in such predictions. Every number suggests potential strengths and weakness; all things have their light and dark sides. Numbers have good and bad sides. They are symbols for positive and negative characteristics. Each number is different-not better, nor worse, than others. People with the same numbers have similar potential to work with. That is all. They do not react in exactly the same way. It is your freedom as an individual to draw from your highest potential.

No particular number is better than another. All numbers have positive and negative aspects. They can only be considered better than others when they relate to certain demands in their environment, such as their vocational attributes. For example, 4s make excellent accountants, 5s make better salespeople and promoters, 6s make great teachers and 8s are talented at business matters. Numerology cannot predict your death and neither can any other similar science.
